Historicism In Literature

Historicism is the idea of attributing meaningful significance to space and time, such as historical period, geographical place, and local culture. Historicism tends to be hermeneutical because it values cautious, rigorous, and contextualized interpretation of information; or relativist, because it rejects notions of universal, fundamental and immutable interpretations.

Question: "What is historicism? What is the historicist interpretation of the book of Revelation?"

Answer: In philosophy, historicism is an approach to history that assigns a particular meaning to an event according to that event's context within the arc of history. In some cases, this results in viewing historical change as a power in and of itself.

German literature - Late Middle Ages and early Renaissance: The late Middle Ages in Europe was a time of decadence and regeneration. A proliferation of literary forms, including didactic literature, prose renderings of classic works, and mystical tracts, was one symptom of this double tendency. The elegant Minnesang was replaced by the wooden verse of guild poetasters, the Meistersang ...
